

Richmond Art Center presents

The Anxious Landscape Photographs by Malcolm Lubliner

This solo exhibition features over 30 works that span 40 years of Malcolm Lubliner's prolific career. While photographs of American urban culture and its ethos are part of a well-established tradition, what interests Lubliner is the "humorous, ironic, sometimes disturbing edge of environmental uncertainty that has become our common province." The work uses two visually related stories — those places where nature and human enterprise merge and where automobiles amplify the story.
