Mt. Tamalpais
“Mt. Tam” is the highest peak in Marin County (2572 ft). It is within protected public lands, including Mt. Tamalpais State Park, Muir Woods National Monument and Marin Municipal Water District lands.

Pt. San Pablo and Pt. San Pedro
These two points bound San Pablo Straits at the entrance to San Pablo Bay. In 1811, while exploring from San Francisco’s Mission Dolores, Father Abella named these points in honor of Saint Paul and Saint Peter.

Marin Islands
East and West Marin Islands comprise the Marin Islands National Wildlife Refuge. West Marin supports the largest heron and egret rookery on San Francisco Bay.

China Camp State Park
This 1500-acre shoreline park, containing 19th century structures and interpretive exhibits, tells the story of the Bay’s Chinese shrimping history.

San Pedro Ridge
At 1058 feet, this prominent ridge is part of the San Pedro Mountain Open Space Preserve.

Big Rock Ridge
At 1887 feet, this peak is part of the Lucas Valley Open Space Preserve.

Burdell Mountain
About 1558 feet, this peak is centered between Olompali State Historic Park to the east and Mt. Burdell Open Space Preserve to the south.

Pt. Pinole
Site of East Bay Regional Park District’s 2315-acre Pt. Pinole Regional Shoreline. Located in Contra Costa County, it is the largest shoreline park in the San Francisco Bay Area.

This exhibit panel was prepared by Trails for Richmond Action Committee (TRAC) and Spokewise Design with funding by Republic Services, Inc.